Recommendation for Christian Dohrmann

To Whom It May Concern,

As Programme Specialist in the Section for Education for Innovation and Skills Development within UNESCO Bangkok and with more than 20 years of research experience, it is my great pleasure to recommend Mr. Christian Dohrmann to you. I have had the opportunity to work with Mr. Dohrmann since August 2016 when he joined UNESCO Bangkok as Research Analyst and Knowledge Management Consultant.

I have come to know Mr. Dohrmann and his research abilities quite well through discussions on his duties in analyzing strategic education plans and policies from countries of Asia and the Pacific, multitudes of research publications and first-hand qualitative and quantitative data. Thereby, it came to the fore that Mr. Dohrmann is well talented in processing and visualizing statistical data to make sense of it.

Through his work, it became clear that Mr. Dohrmann is capable of comprehending a variety of sustainability topics whether this is from a social or an environmental point of view. His enthusiasm for environmental topics have been visible during his time working with us, especially when drafting an elaborate project proposal for a game application in water management.

Mr. Dohrmann demonstrated the capacity of substantially contributing to our work if not going beyond expectations. Besides writing elaborate research reports and assisting in everyday tasks, he also proved himself immensely valuable in evaluating and implementing UNESCO Bangkok's new website, ultimately leading to improvements in presentation and functionality of the same.

Finally to mention is that even creatively Mr. Dohrmann has been able to showcase his talents in support of creating video and photo material. His overall ICT literacy accentuates his profile even further.

In summary, I feel that Mr. Dohrmann has the potential to achieve greatness in whatever he aspires. It is therefore that I recommend him to your institution and wish him all the best in his development.

Dr. Eunsang Cho, Ph.D.
